

State groups mull Straub changeover

The University's Straub Hall may complete its transformation from a dormitory building to an academic structure this year if the State Board of Higher Education and the Legislative Emergency Board reach an agreement.

The Tuesday recommendation of the State Board's building committee will be discussed at the full board meeting in Klamath Falls, Oct. 25.

The building is presently being used for miscellaneous offices. If

Women discuss campus report

The first draft of a new University "Affirmative Action Compliance Program" was discussed at a meeting Wednesday of the Status of Faculty Women Committee.

No decisions were reached, however, and the committee will meet again at 8 a.m. Monday in the EMU.

The committee still needs two student members, one male and one female. Applications are now being taken by the ASUO.

Committee members also discussed the possibility of open and closed meetings at the committee's discretion.

The Oregon Daily Emerald is published Monday through Friday during school year, except during exam and vacation periods. Once weekly during summer session by the Emerald Board of Directors at the University of Oregon.

the plan is accepted by the board and approved by the Legislative Emergency Board, approximately 4,000 square feet will be turned over to the psychology department.

The renovation of Straub Hall into a psychology building is an alternative to the $4 million behavioral sciences building which was earlier proposed but is presently unfunded.

The conversion of Straub will cost about $135,000.

The building committee also decided on Tuesday to accept a new approach to long-range planning at the University.

In the past, University agencies and the state board made the decision as to the future development of the campus.

But the building committee gave interim support to a program which allows the use of a private consulting firm to do the planning.

The major effect of the program, said Christopher Alexander, the consultant from the Center for Environmental Structure in Berkley, Calif., is to propose the construction of a series of small buildings rather than one large complex.

As an example, he cited a complex of small structures for the College of Education which would cost $1.9 million, rather than the $2.8 million price tag for a single building.

NewGate men apprehended

Two former University students who escaped from the Project NewGate house Sept. 19 were captured Wednesday morning in Grand Forks, North Dakota.

Douglas Knapp, 34, and Garrette Wolfe, 28, were Oregon prison inmates on school release through the NewGate rehabilitation program. The two men were living in a campus dormitory prior to their escape.

FBI agents and Grand Forks police apprehended Knapp and Wolfe at 2 a.m. Wednesday at a motel. Grand Forks police said one of their patrolmen checked the license number of a car the two were in and, after checking federal records, found it was being sought. The records also showed Knapp and Wolfe were wanted in Oregon.

Cindy Jaquith: eyes 'massive protests'

Socialist coordinator raps Demos, GOP

"We feel that Democrats and Republicans are responsible for the ills of this country," said the national coordinator for Young Socialists for (Presidential candidates) Linda Jenness and Andrew Pulley at a meeting Wednesday in the EMU.

National director Cindy Jaquith explained before the audience of 20 that the only alternatives for voters in 1972 were either to support the establishment Democratic or Republican candidate or vote for a fundamental change in society by supporting the Socialist candidates.

Ms. Jenness, the 30-year-old presidential candidate, was a former socialist candidate for Georgia governor and Atlanta mayor. She has been active in both the antiwar and feminist movements.

Her running mate, Pulley, is a 20-year-old Black who was one of the Fort Jackson eight, a group of GI's who were imprisoned for organizing protests against the Vietnam war while still in the service.

"We're going to be campaigning to build the Nov. 6 antiwar demonstrations into the most massive protests this country has ever seen, and to turn the campuses and high schools into centers of antiwar activity and use them to mobilize every sector of the American population in opposition to the war," said Ms. Jaquith.

"Young Socialists for Jenness and Pulley are active builders of the Nov. 20 demonstrations in Washington D.C. and San Francisco to repeal all abortion laws," she continued.

"We're going to campaign for the defense of the Attica prisoners, for the implementation of their demands, and to make sure that no Atticas ever happen again. We're going to take the Socialist Workers Party campaign to the Black, Chicano, and Puerto Rican community, and to working people in this country with a program to end inflation without freezing wages."

Ms. Jaquith said that the first step in doing this was to end the war in Vietnam.

The speech was co-sponsored by the Young Socialist Alliance and the ASUO Cultural Forum.

OSPIRG refund date set

By LARRY HEINEMAN
Of the Emerald

The University's branch of OSPIRG is issuing a $1 refund to all students wishing the remittance.

Under the terms of a petition signed by over 50 per cent of University students, the consumer-environment protection student group will offer the refund during the third week of each term. The state board authorized OSPIRG to collect the fees during registration through the incidental fee structure.

Checks will be issued on the main floor of the EMU from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

All students receiving a refund cannot vote in OSPIRG elections or run for OSPIRG board positions.

Public meetings to hear consumer complaints were set for the second Monday of each month according to Jim McKenzie, vice chairman of the local board.

The first meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Monday in the EMU.

McKenzie said three community persons had been appointed to the University board.

The members are: Dianne Thompson, president of the Lane Consumer League; Jay West, owner of radio station KZEL-FM; and Wickes Beal, Eugene City Councilwoman.

They will be active in all OSPIRG board meetings, but cannot vote. Community advisor appointments are for one year.

Three faculty advisor positions are still open, reported McKenzie. He added that interested faculty members should contact the OSPIRG office.

Office hours for the OSPIRG "complaint line" have been changed. The telephone (686-4383), will be manned from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday. Operators will field all complaints of consumer or environmental abuse.

Local board meetings will be held every Tuesday. The meetings will be open to the general public and conducted in the OSPIRG office, EMU, M-111.
